

THE PROCESS OF TRANSITION

Lukasz Darnosz

You are the wave of life. You want and don't want to stop at the same time. You are moving into unknown to resonate with it, to discover it, to feel it and connect with it, to learn and grow from it. It is something frightening to you at first but you know deep inside it is all you, you are all. You are merging with its vibrations, new to you. There is something inviting.

You don't want to control it and it doesn't control you. You feel it and it calms you down. It's easy. You find the quiet where movement slows. The calmer you are, the faster and more accurately your intention and intuition become. And now you reach the place of no movement at all... Awareness, total understanding, knowing, peaceful freedom, pure love.

The highest state of the calmest, the most accelerated frequency of creation. everything is there. Nothing is there and everything is there. You flow freely. You search and find. You heal and evolve. Be present to create with frequencies and appreciate quietly. Your Soul loves stillness because it's made of indivisible presence and unmovable love...

That's the state of being present, spacious and aware where limits start disappearing and your frequencies rise. The door of knowledge and endless possibilities starts to open and you start seeing your inner power.

To schedule a private body and energy work session contact me: lukasz.darmosz@aol.com

